FastReport.NET NetFx2 NetFx4 2020.1.1 with cracked nugetQ: print selected column using LINQ I have 2 tables in my db, each user has many orders, each order has many receipts, which is why I was thinking of splitting the tables so that each order has its own table and the receipt table links to that order, but I want to print only a part of the order details, mostly the info from the receipts. I have a DataTable that has all the data for the order (it's called orderTable), I was thinking of printing only the info from the receipts from the database with the column: Date of arrival of the order How can I do this using LINQ? I don't want to iterate through all the records with foreach, as I assume LINQ will be much faster. A: This is a conceptually very simple example. You can access your data like a dictionary by name:

DataTable dt = new DataTable(); dt.Columns.Add("Name", typeof(string)); dt.Columns.Add("Date", typeof(DateTime)); using (var cn = new SqlConnection("...")) { try { cn.Open(); var cmd = new SqlCommand("SELECT Name, Date FROM Table1", cn); SqlDataReader rdr = cmd.ExecuteReader(); foreach (var row in dt.AsEnumerable()) { var
    rowD = rdr.GetValue(0); //Name var rowD2 = rdr.GetValue(1); //Date Console.WriteLine(string.Format("Name: {0}\r Date: {1}", rowD, rowD2)); } } finally { cn.Close(); } }
