Invention This invention relates to a method and an apparatus for forming a thin-walled vessel, such as of metal or of another material. More particularly, the present invention relates to a method and an apparatus for forming, on a thin-walled mandrel, a thin-walled vessel having a thinner wall than that of the mandrel and extending outwardly from the mandrel by piercing a metal tube attached to the mandrel and expanding the metal tube against a die from which the mandrel extends to form the tube. 2. Prior Art Statement There is known in the art a method of forming a thin-walled vessel by piercing a thin-walled mandrel and expanding a metal tube attached to the mandrel against a die from which the mandrel extends. This known method is disclosed in Japanese Patent Public Disclosure No. 59-133,181 and therefore will not be described in detail here. In the aforementioned known method, the metal tube attached to the mandrel is expanded against the die from which the mandrel extends by the pressure of internal fluid pressure c6a93da74d
