The latest update to offer Adobe Creative Cloud Libraries upnp is Photoshop 2023. This is the 20th version of the imaging software and is available as a 1-year subscription with options for either no sales to a monthly or yearly plan. Occasionally Adobe will release a new version of Photoshop without allowing users to purchase it. Such a release would be aimed at users who already own Photoshop and wish to upgrade to the latest version. Adobe makes it easy to upgrade, and Photoshop users must have at least version 24 to do so. A new feature this year allows users to share Photoshop documents as web links and view what commenters have added to the link. Photoshop Elements is a free version of the software, which, like Photoshop, is available as a monthly or yearly subscription plan. As mature as Photoshop Elements is (it must be nearly into its 20s as far as versions), Adobe keeps creating new features to incorporate. Often, Elements is given features before Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Photoshop Lightroom. May be that is Adobe Sensei Artificial Intelligence (AI) is at work. What is this? It is a system that allows otherwise complex manual tasks to be handled automatically. Creative Cloud Libraries on iPad are also just released as a beta in version 2.2 which brings something which could be very useful. With sharing widgets, you can share a project with complete control (or copy) sharing or even with no sharing at all. Sharing is done over wi-fi for no cost. You can share projects between Creative Cloud Libraries and other platforms, send links to other devices (Macs, iPad, other mobile, etc) and also comment on your own projects. This is from the Mac App Store - perhaps the iPad App Store will have something similar (it should). This is for iOS 8.2 or later.

Whether you use Lightroom or Photoshop, you need access to the same final images to print, or send to any other devices that need visual content. So while anyone who does extensive photo editing is likely both using Lightroom and Photoshop, it is also likely that the users are not in the same place at the same time. So we will look at some of the differences between the two software programs. Note: The following does not constitute advice. Please consult the product documentation provided by the vendor of the software you use.
